Construction Technology provides a comprehensive introduction to every aspect of the technology of domestic low-rise construction. It includes elements of commercial construction, and the principal associated legislation. Based on "Construction Technology Volumes 1 and 2", this combined new edition has been updated in line with contemporary legislation and practice. In addition a substantial amount of new material has been included, in order to cover recent developments in technology affecting the construction industry. This book covers the basic elements of substructure (site works, setting.

This established textbook sets out the principles of limit state design and of its application to reinforced and prestressed concrete members and structures. It will appeal both to students and design engineers. The fourth edition incorporates information on the recently introduced British Standard Code of practice for water retaining structures BS8007. The authors have also taken the opportunity of making minor revisions, generally based on the recommendations of BS8110. Publishes in-depth articles on labor subjects, current labor statistics, information about current labor contracts, and book reviews.

The bibliography contains references to literature on British industrial relations published in the years 1971 to 1979 inclusive. It includes books, periodical articles, theses, government publications, pamphlets and any other relevant publications. As well as general material on industrial relations, the bibliography includes material on employee attitudes and behaviour, employee organisation, employers and their organisation, collective bargaining, industrial conflict, industrial democracy, the labour market, training, employment, unemployment, labour mobility, pay, conditions and the role of the state in industrial relations. It is cross-referenced and has an author index. It is a supplement to the volume compiled by George Bain and Gillian Woolven (published by the Press in 1979) and for the years since 1980 is itself updated by annual articles in the British Journal of Industrial Relations. The material is arranged by subject, and chronologically within that framework.
